

The Tarr Family

our TOP 10 events of 2010

- 10: God provided a house for us in TN for our upcoming move.
- 9: Blane became an entrepreneur! Check out www.understandwebsites.com and www.strawberryplants.org.
- 8: Blane completed his Active Duty Commitment to the Army. And, thanks to the 30 paid vacation days/year that we barely used, we had four glorious months with him at home!
- 7: On the same day of our move, Kelly completed her first half marathon. Brant was just shy of 8 months old, and now, she wonders how she trained for and completed (below her goal time) the race with just two hours of sleep the night before. Pure adrenaline?
- 6: The big move to East Tennessee. Moves are always “exciting” especially with the Army.
- 5: Upon our move, we were able to be a part of a local Sovereign Grace Ministriess Church that we were a part of during our courtship and engagement. We have been so encouraged and refreshed by the desire and pursuit of the Lord that we’ve seen.
- 4: We took our first real family vacation to Folly Beach, SC. It was a surprise vacation to Blane & the kids.
- 3: Blane began his new job at La Follette Eye Clinic, 30 minutes from our home.
- 2: We celebrated Brant’s first birthday in July and Tara’s third birthday in August. They have both grown and changed so much over the past year, and truly bring us delight (though it’s not always easy!!)
- 1: Three out of the four of us had the honor of being a part of Brady & Ryan’s (Brady is Blane’s younger brother) wedding this December. We are so excited to have gained a sister and friend!

We are so thankful for the Lord’s grace and provision for us through another year. We want to wish you a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!

Merry Christmas...Blane, Kelly, Tara, and Brant
